Investment objective

The Company's investment objective is to invest in Mid Cap equities with the aim of providing a total return in excess of the FTSE 250 (ex-Investment Companies) Index.

Strategy/investment policy

The strategy is to invest principally in the investment universe associated with the benchmark index, but with an element of leeway in investment remit to allow for a conviction-driven approach and an emphasis on specific companies and targeted themes. The Company may also invest in other collective investment vehicles where desirable, for example to provide exposure to specialist areas within the universe. The Company may hold up to 20% of its portfolio in equities and collective investment vehicles outside the benchmark index.

The Manager has adopted a unique and consistent investment process, taking a stock specific approach with an emphasis on growth companies. Sector weightings play a secondary role, resulting naturally from stock selection. Fundamental research forms the basis of each investment decision taken by the Manager, which carries out its own research with numerous company contacts. When analysing stocks, the Manager looks for companies with strong management teams with a proven record, good future prospects and a strong business franchise within their markets.

Key reasons to invest

- A decade of capital appreciation
- Mid caps offer good capital and income growth
- Proven stock picking skills

Interim Management Report – Chairman's Statement

“It is of course pleasing to see both the outperformance of the benchmark and the return to favour of mid cap shares.”

Investment and share price performance

I am pleased to report on a positive period for your Company. During the six months ended 31 March 2017, the Company's net asset value produced a total return of 8.6%, comparing favourably to a total return of 6.9% for the Company's benchmark, the FTSE 250 (ex Investment Companies) Index. The Company's share price produced a total return of 8.2% over the period.

It is of course pleasing to see both the outperformance of the benchmark and the return to favour of mid cap shares. The net asset value total return kept up with the 8.1% total return of the large cap index, the FTSE 100, over the same period.

Full details of investment performance, as well as portfolio activity, policy and outlook, may be found in the Manager's Review.

Interim dividend

Revenue return per share has risen by 14.2% compared to the first half of the 2016 financial year, reflecting an 11.1% rise in dividend income from investments. In light of this, and having regard to our income expectations for the second half of the year, the Board has declared an increased interim dividend of 3.10 pence (2016: 2.75 pence) per share for the year ending 30 September 2017. The dividend will be paid on 31 July 2017 to shareholders on the register on 14 July 2017. A final dividend for the year ending 30 September 2017 will be proposed at the next Annual General Meeting, as in previous years.

Gearing facility

The Company continues to maintain a £15 million unsecured revolving credit facility. Gearing stood at 1.5% at 1 October 2016, but was reduced during the period and the portfolio held net cash of 2.9% on 31 March 2017. The Manager will continue to utilise gearing to take advantage of market opportunities as and when they arise and gearing levels are monitored closely by the Board.

Share buy backs

The share price discount to net asset value remained wide during the period, with an average discount of 18.7% as investors remained cautious, and for part of the time, sentiment towards the mid cap sector was weak. The Company did not buy back any of its shares during the period under review. However, after the period end, the Board approved the purchase of shares by the Company to be held in treasury to assist in reducing the discount both in absolute terms and to bring it closer to that of the peer group average. Since the period end, the Company has purchased a total of 292,500 shares to be held in treasury. As at the date of this Report, the share price discount stood at 15.7%.

Your Board continues to believe that the most sustainable way to close the discount is to increase demand for the Company's shares by effective marketing over the longer term, supported by strong performance. In the meantime, it will continue to monitor the discount at which the Company's shares trade both in absolute terms and relative to its peer group and to consider whether share buy backs should be deployed.

Change in independent auditor

As announced on 9 June 2017, following a competitive tender process which excluded the incumbent, Ernst & Young LLP, on the grounds of length of service, the Board approved the appointment of KPMG LLP as the Company's auditor for the financial year ending 30 September 2017. The appointment of KPMG as auditor for the financial year ending 30 September 2018 will be subject to approval by shareholders at the Company's next Annual General Meeting, to be held in early 2018.

The Board would like to thank Ernst & Young LLP, which formally ceased to hold office as the Company's auditor on 20 June 2017, for its professional service to the Company during its tenure in office. In accordance with legislative requirements, a copy of Ernst & Young's resignation letter, including a statement of its reasons for ceasing to hold office, is being circulated to all shareholders.

Outlook

“...we want our Manager to continue to concentrate the portfolio on high-quality companies capable of growth in most circumstances.”

Since the period end, there has been a general election in the UK which has resulted in a hung parliament. This will give rise to greater economic uncertainty and its impact on the Company's universe of shares is as yet unknown.

Interim Management Report – Chairman’s Statement

While the final outcome will provide an answer to one of the uncertainties facing UK equity investors at the moment, there are plenty of others to come. To take just two examples from the last 12 months, mid cap shares have become untypically sensitive to movements in the exchange rate, and investors now face a long period before the implications of the negotiations for the UK to leave the EU become clear.

The portfolio cannot wholly abstract from these macro-economic issues, but we want our Manager to continue to concentrate the portfolio on high-quality companies capable of growth in most circumstances. One reassuring piece of evidence that the holdings are doing well in their respective markets is the dividends they are distributing, which as I mentioned earlier have again risen by a double-digit amount. At a time of limited economic growth worldwide, we see this type of success as both an advantage of mid cap investing, and why a Company like ours can have a role in so many UK equity portfolios today.

Interim Management Report – Manager’s Review

Market background

“...the Company’s net asset value produced a total return of 8.6%... compared to a total return of 6.9% for the benchmark index.”

As noted in the Chairman’s Statement, the Company’s net asset value produced a total return of 8.6% for the six months ended 31 March 2017, compared to a total return of 6.9% for the benchmark index, the FTSE 250 (ex-Investment Companies) Index. The Company’s share price returned 8.2%, the discount having widened from 18.3% to 19.0%.

The UK equity market performed well over the six month period against the backdrop of an improving outlook for the global economy. Inflation expectations rose as the economic policy discussion moved away from a sole reliance on monetary stimulus and towards fiscal measures following the UK’s decision to leave the EU (“Brexit”) and Donald Trump’s presidential election victory in the US. There was a resulting rotation towards companies that benefit from the improving economic conditions (“cyclicals”) as the market became more interested in the case for rising growth – the so-called “reflation trade”.

Domestic merger and acquisition (“M&A”) activity picked up, e.g. Standard Life’s deal to acquire Aberdeen Asset Management, Tesco’s proposed takeover of wholesaler Booker and energy services company John Wood Group’s recommended purchase of peer Amec Foster Wheeler. Prime Minister Theresa May suggested that the UK was heading towards a harder variant of Brexit as she set out the government’s negotiating priorities in her Lancaster House speech in January and subsequently triggered Article 50 in March, beginning the two-year exit process.

Although the benchmark mid cap index delivered a positive return over the period, the graph below highlights its underperformance relative to the FTSE 100 and FTSE SmallCap indices. Factors behind this underperformance include the remnants of the Brexit hangover, which translated into weaker sterling, a number of mid cap profit warnings towards the end of 2016 and less index-boosting M&A activity particularly relative to the FTSE 100 Index.

UK market performance by market capitalisation – 6 months to 31 March 2017

The above graph disguises the fact that, following underperformance at the end of 2016, the benchmark index outperformed the FTSE 100 in Q1 2017. Financial results from the mid caps began to reassure nervous market participants, as did broad-based upwards revisions to 2017 UK gross domestic product forecast growth, following the wholesale downgrades of mid 2016. Generally better-than-feared backward and forward-looking UK economic data drove a strengthening of sterling against the US dollar earlier this year, which tends to benefit mid caps relative to large caps.

Performance

The outperformance of the Company was largely attributable to stock selection, with a much smaller positive contribution from sector allocation.

Interim Management Report – Manager’s Review

Shares in light commercial vehicle hire specialist Northgate performed well following signs of stabilisation in the UK business in interim results published in December. The arrival of a new Chief Executive with previous experience at Avis and Wyevalle Garden Centres should bring more of a retail focus to the group, light commercial residual values in the UK are better than expected and a new flexible rental product (as opposed to contract hire) has shown positive early results. Meanwhile, M&A activity also highlighted value within the quoted equipment rental sector.

SSP (travel food and beverage company), which is exposed to a key global structural growth trend of rising airline passenger numbers, published strong preliminary results in November which set the shares alight. A combination of positive like-for-like sales growth, better cost control and new contract wins drove underlying earnings up in excess of 20% which underpinned similar dividend growth.

Redrow also performed well. The housebuilder reported record first-half pre-tax profits of £140 million, up 35% year on year, as legal completions rose 13%, average selling prices of private homes advanced 12% and operating margins increased to 19.5% from 18.2%.

In terms of stocks held, provider of financial spread betting and contract for difference (“CFD”) products company IG was the most significant detractor. This followed an FCA proposal to significantly tighten regulation around the provision of CFD products to retail customers in the UK. IG is around 50% exposed to the UK, hence the share price reaction. Notwithstanding this, and generally low levels of market volatility, the group delivered a solid pre-close statement post the period end.

Meanwhile, specialist multi-channel retailer of pet-related products and services Pets at Home performed poorly after its third-quarter update confirmed trading had deteriorated. Group like-for-like sales growth moderated to 0.1% versus 2.5% in the first half, due to a poor performance from the merchandise business. While management had previously flagged this slowdown, the market became increasingly fearful about the threat from internet rivals. Management has begun to respond to this threat by strategically lowering prices which has shown signs of early success, and online sales growth rates have improved significantly. Meanwhile, the high-margin and defensive vets business continues to strengthen.

Dunelm also had a weak (second quarter) trading statement. The market is adopting a wait-and-see approach with regard to the November 2016 acquisition of online pure play retailer Worldstores, a deal which is designed to move Dunelm more quickly up the online retail competitiveness curve. Whilst the underlying homewares market has been weak of late (e.g. John Lewis’s recent sales figures), it appears that Dunelm is holding share. In common with Pets at Home, Dunelm has an above average and well underpinned dividend yield.

Looking at stocks not held, we benefited from not holding aerospace and defence manufacturer Cobham, as shares fell sharply after the company announced its fifth profit warning in less than two years. Not holding plastics and packaging manufacturer RPC was also beneficial as the market began to question the company’s ability to successfully absorb further M&A. Finally, security services company G4S, which is in recovery mode, was the main detractor amongst stocks not owned in the benchmark.

Portfolio activity

We added a number of new holdings to the portfolio over the period.

These included industrial threads manufacturer Coats, which is due to be included in the FTSE 250 Index in June, cinema group Cineworld, flexible workplace provider Workspace and challenger bank Virgin Money.

We believe that Cineworld can benefit from strong potential future growth from both the mature UK and Irish markets and its other less mature markets (mainly Israel, Poland and Romania). Workspace supplies start-ups and maturing SMEs with co-working areas in hotspots in London and large cities around the UK. This is a burgeoning trend as it allows people much more flexibility in their work patterns. We think there is plenty of opportunity for Workspace to grow profitably from this trend. Virgin Money should be able to deliver strong returns from its high quality mortgage book and a reducing cost income ratio. It is free from many of the legacy issues which are a drag on other banking groups.

We sold out of companies where we thought the investment case had played out or where recent developments meant the holding no longer fits with our investment strategy.

We sold out of soft drinks business A.G. Barr as it faces further declines to already weak top line growth in a contracting UK soft drinks market as a result of the introduction of the sugar tax, coupled with rising raw materials costs and unfavourable exchange rates. We also exited industrial laundry services provider Berendsen on fears over further weakness in what we believe to be underinvested UK operations. Following our exit, Berendsen had its second profit warning in five months, although we acknowledge that it has since been bid for. Our holding in financial services comparison website Gocompare.com, a result of the demerger from motor insurance company Esure, rather than a deliberate purchase, was disposed of profitably. We removed Halfords from the portfolio due to long-term concerns of durability and saturation of the bicycle market, increased competition from biking specialists and online retailers and, more immediately, an inability to mitigate the pressure on gross margins from foreign exchange movements. We sold out of hotels operator Millennium & Copthorne following serial underperformance at operating level, where we see little catalyst for change barring a bid or a break up of the estate. We sold our position in building materials group SIG given our concerns over the length of time it might take management to turn the business around. Lastly, we exited our holding in Smurfit Kappa on its promotion to the FTSE 100, in line with our stated strategy.

Outlook

UK mid caps have performed strongly so far this year as investors appreciated the level of earnings and dividend growth coming through. To a degree there has also been an element of catch up following the strong currency induced performance from FTSE 100 companies last year.

We are continuing to see companies using a low interest rate environment to make acquisitions to supplement organic growth. This is being well received by the market and is a trend we would expect to persist. We also expect a continued pick-up in inbound UK mid cap M&A activity, particularly in light of the recent weakness of sterling.

We think UK mid cap dividend growth could continue to outstrip that of large cap counterparts. This is partially because, as we have said before, we believe that many mid caps have better growth prospects than some FTSE 100 companies, and partially because mid cap dividends are far better underpinned by dividend cover.

In the UK, economic growth has continued to surpass the expectations of most forecasters who expected a significant slowdown. Consumer spending has remained robust even if the traditional bricks and mortar retailers face never-ending margin pressure from their cost-light internet competitors. The weakness of sterling has started to see higher costs being passed onto the consumer and we are keeping a close eye on whether companies will be able to make those increases stick or will have to reverse them due to falling demand.

Other headwinds for companies such as the living wage, business rates and the apprentice levy are all going to have an impact on companies and their ability to grow profitability.

Finally, this month’s general election has added to short-term uncertainty instead of the other way around. This may affect decision-making for both consumers and companies.

Our investment strategy

“We continue to seek organic growth and pricing power where possible, and avoid companies with too much debt.”

We continue to seek organic growth and pricing power where possible, and avoid companies with too much debt.

Our strategy remains one of being highly selective in light of structural change caused by the evolution of the internet and e-commerce, which is disrupting a lot of traditional business models by driving down prices and in some cases offering better product or service. We endeavour to be on the right side of this trend: as well as looking for the next mid cap disruptor, we are always looking to avoid or reduce exposure to what we think might be the next industry to be disrupted.

We believe that our portfolio holdings are well placed to continue to generate superior long-term returns. Many are enjoying a virtuous circle of earnings and dividend growth (examples of which include Cranswick, Dechra, Diploma, Safestore and Supergroup), whereby a rising stream of earnings is underpinning progressive dividend policies and simultaneously supporting reinvestment into the business to drive future growth.

Interim Management Report

Principal risks and uncertainties

The principal risks and uncertainties with the Company's business fall into the following categories: strategy and competitiveness risk; investment management risk; financial and currency risk; accounting, legal and regulatory risk; custodian and depositary risk; and service provider risk. A detailed explanation of the risks and uncertainties in each of these categories can be found on pages 18 and 19 of the Company's published Annual Report and Accounts for the year ended 30 September 2016.

These risks and uncertainties have not materially changed during the six months ended 31 March 2017, with the exception of cyber risk relating to the Company's key service providers. The Board considers that this has increased in light of the rising frequency and impact of cyber attacks on businesses and institutions. In order to ensure that this risk is managed and mitigated appropriately, the Board is seeking enhanced reporting on cyber risk controls from its key service providers.

Going concern

Having assessed the principal risks and uncertainties, and the other matters discussed in connection with the viability statement as set out on page 20 of the published Annual Report and Accounts for the year ended 30 September 2016, the Directors consider it appropriate to adopt the going concern basis in preparing the accounts.

Related party transactions

There have been no transactions with related parties that have materially affected the financial position or the performance of the Company during the six months ended 31 March 2017.

Directors' responsibilities statement

The Directors confirm that, to the best of their knowledge, this set of condensed financial statements has been prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice (UK GAAP) and with the Statement of Recommended Practice, "Financial Statements of Investment Companies and Venture Capital Trusts" issued in November 2014 and that this Interim Management Report includes a fair review of the information required by 4.2.7R and 4.2.8R of the FCA's Disclosure Guidance and Transparency Rules.
